Good afternoon Trevor,

For general right to information there is plenty of information online.

The QPS advice is at this link:

https://www.police.qld.gov.au/units/right-information-and-privacy

For matters pertaining to your upcoming court case there is a timeline when information is released/disclosed depending on magistrates orders, your instructions, legal advice, etc.

As I have suggested a number of times and will suggest again. I recommend you seek legal advice.

You are before the court, I do not intend to have a meeting prior to any court date to discuss matters which you can reasonably answer with some research, using the information I have sent you or by seeking independent legal advice. I am not discussing the merits of legislation, officers conditions of employment or other matters which may prejudice a court hearing.

If you have issue with this my supervisor is Acting Inspector Damien Van Der Berg, Darling Downs District Office, 46316522.
I have also reported your complaint(s) to the Professional Practice Manager, Ethical Standards Command.
